

Have you been assaulted?

You may have suffered a physical injury, or a psychological injury, and may have a claim for pain and suffering, or lost income.

If a business such as a store or bar enabled the assault to take place, you may be able to include them in your claim for damages. Similarly, if a school, organization, or place of employment enables an assault or negligently allows it to occur, they may be liable for your damages.

Domestic violence assaults can be particularly traumatizing. We work with survivors to support them in their path to recovery.

A civil claim can be successful even when the person who committed the assault has not been charged with a crime.

Our compassionate and experienced personal injury lawyers are here for you.

When you have a legal matter and need to hire a lawyer, you may be able to pay for these services on a contingency basis. That means you only pay legal fees if you receive money because your case wins or you get a negotiated settlement. Please see our Contingency Fee section for answers to frequently asked questions and see each lawyer's individual biography for their maximum contingency fee rates.
