Graham's Biography

Prior to articling with McKenzie Lake Graham studied at Western, went to law school at the University of Leicester in England, and earned a Master of Law from the University of Cambridge. After spending years abroad Graham is happy to be back in London, and to be working and giving back to his community.

Graham's years of school taught him the benefits of hard work and critical thinking. Living in England for three years taught Graham the benefits of different perspectives. Moreover, working on student committees in law school taught Graham the benefits of communication and working with a great team. Graham takes all of these lessons into his practice with the tax and commercial litigation law groups at McKenzie Lake as well as his approach to achieving just results for his clients.

Outside of the office Graham enjoys hiking, running, and any kind of water sport.
