Jonathan's Biography

While in law school, Jon learned to appreciate the importance of access to justice through volunteer work with Pro Bono Students Canada and Neighbourhood Legal Services London and Middlesex. As a summer student and articling student with McKenzie Lake Lawyers, Jon gained valuable experience in commercial and class action litigation. He continues to advocate for equality and access to justice as part of the class actions team by representing clients who have been wronged but do not have feasible individual claims.

Jon graduated from the University of Waterloo with a Bachelor's Degree in political science and business before returning to his hometown of London, where he completed his Juris Doctor at Western University. During his final year in law school, he did a semester abroad at Stockholm University in Sweden.

Prior to law school, Jon developed a keen interest in public policy and has worked at various roles in municipal, provincial and federal government. He has been an instructor of an undergraduate course in commercial law at Nipissing University and is actively involved in the community as a member of the board of directors of a local non-profit organization.
