Maddison' s Biography

Maddison Watson is an associate in the Personal Injury & Disability Law Practice Group. She received an Honours Bachelor of Arts degree in Criminal Justice and Public Policy from the University of Guelph before obtaining her Juris Doctor from the University of Windsor. While attending law school, Maddison served as a Peer Mentor, an active member of the Disability Student Law Society, and a Teaching Assistant in Indigenous Legal Orders. She was awarded Top Oralist at the G. Mennen Williams Moot.

Maddison is deeply committed to advocating for injured clients, understanding that the process of navigating an injury claim can be overwhelming and complex. She strives to be a guiding light for her clients, helping them to understand their rights and options while ensuring they receive the support and compensation they deserve. Maddison is passionate about making the legal journey as smooth and stress-free as possible, dedicated to providing clear, compassionate, and effective representation every step of the way.

As a Board Director of The Nightingale Centre for Grieving Children and Youth, Maddison enjoys being active in the Guelph Community and giving back to those around her.
