Sarah is particularly proud of her efforts in assisting elderly clients who have suffered serious injuries from slip and falls, and families who have lost their loved ones as a result of the negligence of others. Over the years, she has been successful in obtaining millions of dollars in compensation for her clients.

While Sarah's practice has always focused on helping those disabled by injury or illness, she also acted for some of Canada's top insurance companies for the first 9 years of her career. Not only did she gain invaluable litigation experience doing insurance defence work, but she has the advantage over other personal injury lawyers of understanding the complexities of insurance, as well as the motivations of insurers, which helps her to make strategic and tactical decisions when representing people in claims against insurance companies.

Sarah has been a member of several charitable boards and continues to support those causes that are near and dear to her heart, especially SARI Therapeutic Riding. She herself has been a horse person since childhood and had been an avid show jumping competitor for more than 20 years. More recently, Sarah and her husband dedicate most of their spare time to supporting the extracurricular pursuits of their 2 young children.

Effective July 1, 2021 – My maximum contingency fee rate for most personal injury cases is 30% except for medical/dental/professional malpractice cases which would have a maximum rate of 40%.
